GLOBAL LEARNING

There is no strategic priority under the Goal: Global Learning that is if it in the internationalize on campus courses by means of embedded learning activities carried out online with our university program in IDIS began during AY 20209 and continued during AY 2020. We began a collaborative application with University of Cape Coast to host a Fulbright Scholar in Residence in the School of Nursing during AY 20223. Finally, we began negotiations with the National Student Exchange (NSE) that will provide SU students the opportunity for a semester of exchange at 150+ universities inside the USA, more than a dozen universities in Canada, and select universities in US territories in Guam, Puerto Rico, and the US Virgin Islands. We hope to complete all three of these negotiations during -222.
